A UNIQUE BOND
*65 YEARS OF ROLEX
& EQUESTRIANISM*

With more than a century of knowledge and expertise in watchmaking, Rolex is driven by tradition and craftsmanship, along with innovation and a passion for perfection. These values are reflected in the brand’s support of equestrianism. For 65 years, Rolex has cultivated an enduring legacy with this elite world and is now a major presence at play behind the finest riders, competitions and institutions.

The brand’s contribution to excellence in equestrianism is based on this heritage, encouraging modernization while respecting the elegance of this prestigious sport. Whether supporting leading athletes, the historic CHIO Aachen in Germany or the iconic Rolex Grand Slam of Show Jumping, Rolex has built on a relationship that began in 1957, through an alliance with British show jumper Pat Smythe. A pioneer in her sport, she became the brand’s first equestrian Testimonee.

SHOW-JUMPING is not so effortless as the experts make it look, so a watch has to be pretty tough to take it in its stride. That’s why Pat Smythe is so pleased with her lovely Rolex Oyster Perpetual. She says :

“I wear it all the time, and as for worrying about it when I jump, I never give it a thought. I wondered at first whether it could stand up to the jarring and the falls, but they don’t harm it at all.

“I’ve worn it sailing, when it often gets wet. I’ve worn it ski-ing, when it gets covered in snow, and I’ve worn it in 30° of frost, as well as in the heat and dust of the Sahara desert. Nothing seems to affect it; it just goes on keeping perfect time—and winding itself, which means there’s one thing less to remember.

“I’m delighted with my beautiful Oyster Perpetual and it’s my constant companion.”

The Ladies’ Rolex Oyster Perpetual is ideal for women who lead busy and active lives. It is so perfectly lovely to look at, and whatever you do—ride, sail, ski, swim—it keeps perfect time. The pre-eminence of Rolex in all the spheres of modern watchmaking science assures that.

Rolex's support for equestrianism extends across the three Olympic disciplines of show jumping, eventing and dressage. This enduring support is highlighted by its affiliation with international events and competitions that represent the pinnacle of the sport, including as the founding partner of two of the most demanding challenges for competitors:

The Rolex Grand Slam of Show Jumping, launched in 2013

The Rolex Grand Slam of Eventing, launched in 2001

THE ROLEX GRAND SLAM OF SHOW JUMPING

The four Majors that comprise the Rolex Grand Slam of Show Jumping are long-standing partners of the brand:

The Dutch Masters (Netherlands) in March;
Main Sponsor since 2014

The CHIO Aachen (Germany) in May;
Main Sponsor since 1999

The CSIO Spruce Meadows 'Masters' Tournament
(Canada) in September;
Presenting Sponsor since 1989

The CHI Geneva (Switzerland) in December;
Presenting Sponsor since 1996

Launched in 2013, the Rolex Grand Slam of Show Jumping rewards the outstanding rider who wins three consecutive Majors at four of the world's most historic shows – The Dutch Masters, the CHIO Aachen, the CSIO Spruce Meadows 'Masters' Tournament and the CHI Geneva. Considered by the sport to be the ultimate equestrian challenge, it rewards the very best riders with a €1 million bonus. If all four Majors are won in succession, a further €1 million bonus is awarded.

Arnaud Boetsch, Communication & Image Director, Rolex SA, said: "The Rolex Grand Slam of Show Jumping is the ultimate goal of every great horse and rider, linking the world's historic Majors, it marks a new era in equestrianism."

As a long-term partner to all four events, Rolex's support for the Rolex Grand Slam of Show Jumping is a natural fit.

SCOTT BRASH: ROLEX GRAND SLAM CHAMPION

The first Major in the calendar year is The Dutch Masters, a show that offers four days of world-class equestrian sport, including show jumping and dressage. Rolex has been Main Sponsor and Title Sponsor of the Grand Prix since 2014. The event has a rich history dating back to 1967, testimony to its enduring commitment to excellence in equestrianism.

The elite world of show jumping turns its attention to west Germany for the World Equestrian Festival, CHIO Aachen. Sponsored by Rolex since 1999, the event attracts more than 360,000 passionate supporters during 10 days of competition – a record attendance among equestrian events. CHIO Aachen offers competition in five disciplines. The focal point of the show, the Rolex Grand Prix, has been won by some of the most famous names in the sport, including Rolex Testimonees Rodrigo Pessoa, Jeroen Dubbeldam, Meredith Michaels-Beerbaum, Eric Lamaze, Scott Brash, Kent Farrington and Daniel Deusser.

In September, the focus switches to the CSIO Spruce Meadows 'Masters' Tournament, the third Major of the year, held in Calgary, Canada. The event has a spectacular setting, as well as perfect facilities for athletes to perform to the best of their abilities. It is regarded by many enthusiasts of the sport as the leading equestrian event in North America and Rolex is proud to have been affiliated with it for more than 30 years.

The last Major of the year takes place in Geneva, where Rolex is headquartered. Since 1996, Rolex has been the Presenting Sponsor of CHI Geneva, which was first staged 70 years earlier. In 2019 it was named the best indoor show jumping event in the world for the 10th time and the best cross indoor event for the first time by the highly respected L'Année Hippique yearbook, based on the votes of riders, journalists and personalities of the equestrian world.

In the history of equestrian sport, there are riders whose names and achievements will be immortalized in the record books. It takes a truly great horseman or horsewoman to win show jumping's most prestigious prize and, in September 2015, British competitor and Rolex Testimonee Scott Brash achieved this remarkable feat for the first and only time in the sport's history, winning three consecutive Grand Prix at the abovementioned Majors. He did so on one horse, Hello Sanctos, making his success even more extraordinary.

ROLEX IJRC TOP 10 FINAL

The concept of the Rolex International Jumping Riders Club (IJRC) Top 10 Final was conceived in the late 1990s by the IJRC with the intention to improve the formula of the ranking list and to celebrate the success and the talents of the finest show jumpers in the world. Inaugurated in 2001, the 10 highest-ranked riders in the world for the year are invited to compete head-to-head. An idea similar to the end-of-season ATP and WTA Finals in tennis, which are also supported by Rolex, the Rolex IJRC Top 10 Final is the only event that is run by competitors, through the IJRC.

Rolex has been Title Sponsor of the Top 10 Final since its inception, a competition that brings together the world's best horse and rider partnerships in one of the most prestigious events on the international equestrian calendar. The competition has been won by several of the greatest names in the sport, including Rolex Testimonees Rodrigo Pessoa, Meredith Michaels-Beerbaum, Steve Guerdat, Daniel Deusser, Scott Brash, Kent Farrington, Eric Lamaze and Kevin Staut.

WINTER EQUESTRIAN FESTIVAL

Acknowledged as one of the finest equestrian venues in the world, the Wellington International provides the sport's top riders with world-class opportunities to test both their young horses and 5* Grand Prix rides. In 2012, Rolex partnered the elite equestrian centre, further enhancing the quality of competition. Through this relationship, the brand became Official Timekeeper of the Winter Equestrian Festival, which brings together some 6,000 horses and 2,000 riders from about 30 countries for three months of international competition at the venue in Florida, USA. Many of Rolex's Equestrian Testimonees spend the winter months at the festival, preparing for the highlight of the competition, the Rolex Grand Prix.

CSIO ROMA PIAZZA DI SIENA

Held in May, CSIO Roma Piazza di Siena is recognized as one of the most beautiful horse shows on the international equestrian calendar. Demonstrating elegance and style, it attracts visitors from around the world. Staged in the striking Villa Borghese gardens, the four-day CSIO Roma includes the Nations Cup, the Six Bar and the mounted Carabinieri display that has closed the show since 1933. Rolex joined the event in 2018 as Official Timekeeper and Title Sponsor of the esteemed Grand Prix, the Gran Premio Roma, which takes place on the Sunday. Two of the sport's most iconic riders, Rolex Testimonees Rodrigo Pessoa (2009) and Eric Lamaze (2011, 2014) have won the Grand Prix here.

ROLEX TESTIMONEES
GENERATIONS OF EXCELLENCE

The roots of Rolex's affinity for sporting and human achievement can be traced back to the pioneering origins of the company. In 1927, a young Englishwoman, Mercedes Gleitze, swam the English Channel, emerging from the water after 10 hours wearing a fully functioning waterproof Oyster wristwatch, invented by Rolex. She effectively became the Swiss watchmaker's first Testimonee, marking the beginning of a long and prolific partnership between Rolex and exceptional athletes, explorers and artists, whose accomplishments bear witness to the excellence of Rolex watches and an enduring quest for perfection.

Rolex equestrian Testimonees are all elite performers, renowned for their style and elegance. The criteria for a Rolex Testimonee is more than simply being at the pinnacle of their sport; it is equally about the grace and perfection they personify. Rolex continues to partner with the sport's most outstanding athletes who embody the intelligence and precision of the brand through their historic achievements.

The Rolex family of equestrian Testimonees extends across all ages, gender and the three Olympic disciplines of show jumping, dressage and eventing. These outstanding athletes include Rodrigo Pessoa, Eric Lamaze, Meredith Michaels-Beerbaum, Scott Brash, Steve Guerdat, Kent Farrington, Kevin Staut, Jeroen Dubbeldam, Bertram Allen, Martin Fuchs, Harry Charles, Daniel Deusser, Isabell Werth, Jessica Springsteen and Zara Tindall.
